What the future holds

- Contracts are important to control potential environmental liability
- Exposure to environmental liability for unlawful releases of hazardous substances
- Polluter pays

CERCLA of 1980

- The Federal govt can hold a PRP liable without proving that the PRP was at fault and without regard for the PRP's motive. A PRP is liable even if:
 - The problems caused by the release of the hazardous substance were unforeseeable.
 - The PRP acted in good faith.
 - State-of-the-art hazardous waste management practices were followed at the time the materials were disposed of.

Joint and several liability

- Current owner or operator of a vessel or a facility
- Owner or operator of a vessel or facility at the time of disposal of any hazardous substance
- Generators of any hazardous substances located on the site
- Any transporter of hazardous substances to a site the transporter selected.

Note to self

- Avoid liability
- ISRI's RIOS program
- USEPA's R2 guidance
- ISO 14001
- E-Stewards
